Sevenoaks Ramblers

A Scenic Walk from Teston Country Park - 8.5 miles

Sunday, 12th July

Sunday was yet another sunny day but with a cloudy sky, which combined with a nice breeze, reduced the temperature.

Before we set off, we had a nice surprise when we met Michael Collins and his wife Betty. Michael was one of the founder members of Sevenoaks Ramblers on 25 March 1987. He is a former Chairman of the group and over the years he led hundreds of walks.

Our group of 8 Ramblers following the river Medway towards Wateringbury. The scenic walk past the lock and weeping willows were just what you might have expected to see at one time on the lid of a chocolate box.

At Wateringbury we crossed the bridge and turned west. Our route took us gently up the side of the valley past about a dozen people playing the French game pétanque. Moving on we passed Raspberry's being cultivated before we arrived at West Farleigh where we had our picnic and a drink on the green.

After lunch we began our descent down to East Farleigh with its old stone bridge over the Medway. In doing so we crossed a number of fields growing rapeseed and through woodland.
From East Farleigh we followed the river back to the start enjoying the views and passing numerous fishermen.
